I am writing to you in concern to the Unififed Federal Policy for Ensuring a Watershed Approach to Federal Land and Resource Management released in the Federal Register on 2-22-00. I attended a public meeting on 3-29-00 in regards to the proposed Unified Public Policy on the Lassen National Forest in California. I discovered that in the name of this policy, 30 miles of public access road was closed, supposedly, due to watershed problems. The cost to de-commission these 30 miles of road was $55,000.00. I was appalled when I discovered that no cost analysis was done to determine if it would have been cheaper to put in some culverts or some other road re-construction to save these public access roads. I don't believe that a policy that does not look at both sides of cost and public access (including comment) could possibly serve our community or our forest. It occurs to me that this policy is another way to remove and prevent the public access to their own land that they have, and continue, to pay for. I feel that this Policy is being used as the scapegoat for the so-called "Roadless Act" and should be stopped. I live in a very rural area of California where we use our Forest wisely and use it to feed our families and warm our homes in the winter time. If the roads start getting closed of, for whatever purpose, it will be detrimental to our small community.
